Allies Reported Without Anti-Aircraft Artillery To Combat Enemy Planes

NEW DELHI, May 26.—(AP)—The loss of Rangoon, Malaya and the Netherlands East Indies and the necessary deflection of reinforcements to India sealed the doom of Burma so far as maintaining air superiority there was concerned, an R.A.F. spokesman said yesterday.

Poland Shows Opposition To Nazi Germany

and stands between mankind and a third world war, he said.

He stated that it may be essential that the Reich be broken up into several states, in smaller units, by their own governments, rather than by one man.

He recommended also that there be established an international governing body to prevent resentment through the meetings of great assemblies. He further suggested that if the German people were freed along with Christians, the "Love Thy Neighbor" instead of their Nazi principles of "Hate Thy Neighbor," then this terrible onslaught on humanity could possibly be averted.

Though Russia has a different ideology than that of other Allied nations, yet this mission is an ally, and it must be remembered that the alliance is in a military sense and not in a political sense, Mr. Podulski stated.

FORGET OBSCURANCES

The Poles who fought in 1939 fought with their backs to the Russian wall, only to have it fall in on them, certainly have a right to be regarded as a brave fighting force, the minister said, but our government has decided to forget past grievances, and to fight arm in arm.

Hitler is nothing new. The things he does and says are not new. The German people believe in him and follow him blindly because he says what they already believe. And what they already believe is taught for generations," he explained.

"The Germans think it is necessary of a warrior to earn his living otherwise by the taking care of his neighbor," the minister charged.

GERMAN BELIEFS

Dangers of Germany lie in their belief that it is stronger than right, that a nation must have the will to exert power, and that the Germans are a master race and should dominate the world, he explained.

In them "the crowd mentality" is developed to a higher degree than in any other people. The strength lies in their idealism of a leader, he said.

POWERFUL ARMY

Poland faced this powerful army in 1939 fully realizing that the war was a great evil without any hope of assistance from the unprepared allied nations. Her people were taken to Germany at that time is still as strong as ever. Other nations feel that without a strategic plan, governments have been set up, and the nations were drawn into the trap, and it is not the case with Poland.

It is the only country in the world that has never yielded to poison, armistice or force. It is the only country that since 1918 has not collaborated with the enemy, no puppet government, no traitor, no minister of Polish freedom, the minister stated.

1942 Cycle Output To Total 150,000

OTTAWA, May 26.—(CP)—Canada's "back-to-the-bicycle" movement drew official blessing today from the munitions and supply department.

Taking heed of the demand for non-motorized transport in ration facilities, Supplies Controller A. H. Williamson announced an order permitting national bicycle manufacturers of 150,000 machines for 1942, at a cost of 150 per cent of 1941 production.

The same order prohibits manufacture of children's bicycles, limit its adult machines to three sizes, and eliminate "all unnecessary parts and trimmings" in new adult bicycles.

Three permissible sizes for adult machines are 20-inch, 22-inch and 24-inch. Regulations governing the size will become operative in the summer of 1942, when the new machines are available from the United States.

Chinese Suffer New Reverses In Jap Advance

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chinese headquarters said yesterday that the Japanese had taken a considerable number of German sailors at French naval yards and training stations in Indochina, themselves with the characteristics of French warriors.

These sources, with underground connections, declared that virtually all major units of the French fleet at Toulon, naval base near Marseille, had been drained of oil and did not have enough "to reach Algeria in an emergency."

Dispatches from Berlin yesterday said that Germany and Italy appeared cooling feet toward Laval, government chief of the Vichy government. Berlin writers spoke of "the stagnation" in German-Vichy relations.

One source in London said: "There are indications Italy is planning a coup d'état to set the fleet at Toulon suddenly, possibly through the use of fifth columnists in co-operation with air-borne troops, and then make it with German sailors."

Meanwhile, the Germans are using Italian territorial demands to increase capacity to give up the peace, at the same time installing Laval prodig for the Axis, yet not to be declared.

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE IN COMMONS

Provinces to Get Federal Aid For Reduced Gas Taxes

Dominion Will Contribute Amount Equal To Revenue Received Last Fiscal Year

OTTAWA, May 26.—(CP)—Provincial taxation losses due to reduced use of automobiles will be largely eased through agreements made between the Dominion and the provinces, Finance Minister Halsey told the House of Commons yesterday.

Holding a full-length session in spite of the Victoria Day holiday, the house debated a bill to allow the Dominion to enter into agreements whereby the provinces will waive the income and corporation tax for the duration of the year in return for grants from the federal government.

The agreements include a provision by which the Dominion will pay the provinces an amount equal to the net receipts from their gasoline taxes in the fiscal year ended nearest to Dec. 31, 1940.

Mr. Halsey mentioned the increasingly severe restrictions on the use of automobiles and the shortage of tires as factors cutting down the use of automobiles.

ACTIVE PROBLEMS
He added: "I am convinced that were it not for these tax agreements, including the gasoline taxes, several at least of the provinces would inevitably have been in a financial problem, which presumably would have had to be solved otherwise by solutions which are fundamentally sound character."

The agreements for which British Columbia, Alberta, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec will be paid an amount equivalent to the total revenue obtained by each province and its municipalities from gasoline income and corporation taxes during the fiscal year ending nearest Dec. 31, 1940, which will be paid in advance by the Dominion.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King said that the Dominion will be pleased by the province during the fiscal year ended nearest Dec. 31, 1940, less revenues obtained from succession duties.

Agreements have been signed with all provinces except Quebec. NO IMMEDIATE CHANGE
Replying to a question by Conservative house leader, Maurice Montpetit, Minister Halsey said that until extra supplies become available, it appears little can be done to change the present gasoline ration quota in the main provinces.

"This allowance there now is two gallons per unit compared with five gallons elsewhere," he said.

Resources Minister Cripps said he was unable to tell Mr. Halsey when the government intends to move second reading of the bill to amend the National Resources Mobilization Act. Mr. Halsey, answering another question by the Conservative house leader, said he could not indicate the date he will bring down the budget.

Speaking on the Dominion-Provincial tax agreements measure, Mr. Halsey said the freeing of the payments at the 1940 assessment based on 1939 income. "There was a deficit in the budgets of provinces and municipalities within them. Unless the municipalities were prepared to reduce their services they had to be met in some other fashion, and municipalities had done so to provide to meet what was left of the year."

A householders' tax on property had been imposed in Saint John and Moncton in his province. "And we will have this tax as long as we live, or at least as long as the present situation continues," Mr. Halsey said. A poll tax was also being imposed.

FAIR TREATMENT
On the whole, Mr. Halsey said he believed the Dominion had done well by the provinces in the amounts allocated to them.

Most provincial governments showed "not the slightest evidence of retrenchment in what must be peremptory expenditures," he said. This year the New Brunswick budget was the highest in its history.

Mr. Halsey said the agreements would make a possible Dominion commitment, with the federal tax payment included, of $101,754,616. He said he could see no prospect of the high income tax rate being vacated and there should be a permanent arrangement for the provinces to stay out of this field permanently.

There should also be only one succession duty taxation measure. Under past conditions it was possible for the same dollar of value to be taxed three times.

"TWO LEMENT"
"I suggest to the minister that in dealing with the provinces he was a bit too lenient with respect to the power to impose new taxes," said Mr. Halsey.

New Democracy Leader Blackmore posed the question of what the Dominion would do when it had so many financial commitments that no matter what means it used it would be unable to raise sufficient money. Provincial revenues as they are at present were "irregularly inadequate."

The Finance Minister should be seeking means of increasing the province's revenues by adding to their supplies of money from the federal treasury.

"The money must come from somewhere," said Mr. Blackmore, "and if this generation of men-

Faith In Argentina

WASHINGTON, May 26.—(AP)—

Powerful but still neutral Argentina received a message from President Roosevelt yesterday expressing confidence that the South American nation would tread "those paths which alone can insure the preservation of those political and economic freedoms upon which our American civilization is based."

Mr. Roosevelt said the government was spending $200,000 a year for war purposes and the government had to obtain money to meet that amount.

If any particular emergency arose, Mr. Roosevelt would discharge his responsibility.

He did not want to lay down the general proposal here that we are going to guarantee absolutely that the provinces will be kept in a particular position," said Mr. Halsey.

As for automobile license, another source of income to the provinces, he said that nothing drastic like prohibition of use of gasoline altogether for pleasure driving, which might possibly come during the war, would be undertaken without recognition being given to the financial consequences on the provinces.

Four Drowned As Motorboat Swept Over River Falls

ORILLIA, Ont., May 26.—(CP)—Four Toronto residents were drowned yesterday and two others were saved when their motorboat was swept over Wadell Falls on Black River, 15 miles north of here.

The victims were: Mrs. Maureen Fitzgerald, 34, and her two children, Joan Marie Fitzgerald, seven, and Glenn Franklin Lucas, 28. Mr. W. R. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Lucas were saved. According to meagre information available here, the tragedy occurred soon after the boat was pushed into the stream.

One of the men attempted to start the outboard motor but it failed to respond and the craft was swept into the treacherous channel. Gates of a dam on the river were open and the boat was swept over the dam to the rocks 30 feet below.

Only one body had been recovered at a late hour last night.

Modification Of Vets' Land Settlement Act

Advocated By Legion

By MARSHALL BATEMAN

WINNIPEG, May 26.—(CP)—A rehabilitation report placed before the ninth bi-annual convention of the Canadian Legion today urged modification of the War Veterans' Land Settlement Act now before the House of Commons and reiterates recommendations made two years ago for post-war public works.

The War Veterans' Land Settlement Act, designed to settle 25,000 men on the land at an estimated cost of $80,000,000, provides for an outright grant of about $2,000 to enable each settler to acquire an equity in his holding without placing an unbearable burden upon him.

The report praises the framers of the Act for endeavoring to eliminate unfavorable features of the former Soldier Settlement Act and suggested:

EIGHT SUGGESTIONS
1.—That regional boards consisting of three members, one to be named by the agricultural department of a university, one a qualified ex-serviceman living in the district, and the third, the federal department supervisor, to determine the land to be acquired.

2.—That the regional board on the suitability of the land to determine whether he should immediately enter into a contract or require a training first.

3.—That a special parliamentary committee make a continuous review of the progress and results of the act.

4.—That the widest possible use be made of the present soldier settlement staff in forming an organization for administration of the act.

5.—That a government agency explore the possibility of granting assistance, where necessary, to married men who have not had an opportunity to save sufficient money to make the 10 per cent cash payment.

6.—That provision be made for a committee of review to examine cases where settlers appeal recession proceedings.

7.—That supervisors be made able to advise and assist the settler to solve his problems.

8.—That stock and equipment necessary for efficient operation of each holding be provided up to the maximum of $1,200, regardless of the price paid for the land.

APPROPRIATIONS URGED
The report recommends that appropriations be passed so there will be no delay in putting a long range plan of assisted public works into operation at the close of the present war.

The long range plan would include "needed public works," such as clearance, reforestation, and forest and soil conservation, highway construction to develop tourist traffic and other trade, and further electrification of country areas.

The report also urges an increase in the strength of the permanent forces after the war, preference in parts, providing double layers of material.

4.—Any belt on the coat.

5.—A hem on either coat or pants exceeding one-half inch.

32-INCH LIMIT

Furthermore, the finished length of a nightgown must not exceed 52 inches for any size coat outside which is limited to 54 inches.

The order says, bluntly, that the use of materials for the manufacture of pockets to be attached to any nightgown is prohibited, and that the width of a belt or sash shall not exceed one-half inch.

Use of ruffles or frills on the bottom of the nightgown is forbidden.

but, on garments of printed cloth, buck patches of a triangular shape not exceeding more than nine inches in width and nine inches in length will be permitted on the back neck.

Generally, board clothing after having been worn on two-pant suit of any kind, but for children up to age four two-pant pyjamas are permitted.

Queen Mother 75

LONDON, May 26.—(CP)—Queen Mother Mary is 75 today, and she plans to spend the day at the West Country Mansion that has been her home since the war started.

Edmonton's Airport

Edmonton's airport is a busy and ever busier place. Therefore a place where new and better facilities have to be provided to take care of fast increasing traffic which is pushing in sight of magnificent large expansion. Enlargement of the field, the laying down of new runways and the building of another hangar are improvements demanded by military and civil needs. As part of the airport's contribution to developments there a contract has been let for the erection of a new administration building. This will house all the branches of the executive staff engaged in the operation of the port.

It is significant, and will be a welcome fact to the taxpayers of the city, that the rentals to be paid for accommodation in the building will take care of maintenance and the capital cost of the building. The principal, the financing to be done on a twenty-year basis. The new administration headquarters will therefore be an investment, not an expense, and in the long run will cost the city nothing.

While the airport is not yet on a self-sustaining footing, it is hoped that the deficits have never been large, the business developed through it is of large and increasing importance, and the influx of traffic into the city will be such that the enterprise will be self-supporting within a reasonable period.

Strong In The Right Place

If any one factor is to be singled out as accounting mainly for the Allied defeat in Burma, it must be the lack of equipment, in particular the lack of an air force at all comparable in numbers to that of the enemy. Our "too few" airmen there have been matching themselves against odds of ten to one, and worse. The rapidity with which the Japanese have moved showed they had no lack of tanks or mobile artillery of all sorts, and equally showed the want of these on the side of the defenders. The few under-armed British and Chinese forces that were left to fight for time and hope that the rains would come early.

Any equipment should have been so scarce on that front is fairly plain. The supply has been limited, and the bulk of that which was produced had to go to Russia and the Middle East. The British had also to be sent to Australia. There just was not enough to go round, and Burma was left almost defenceless. The course that the main objective must be to defeat Hitler. If that can be accomplished, his satellites can be dealt with in turn, and driven back where they belong. Unless he is beaten, it would do little good to hold Burma or any minor field of combat against his juggernaut.

Britain and the United States have staked their "money" on Russia, at the risk of temporary defeat in the Far East. But Russia is the latest victim of the losses they have sustained in consequence. But if Russia can stand, that and all the other losses in the world can be repaired in due time. The Allies could not be strong everywhere. They decided to be strong where to be weak would be fatal.

Benito To Adolf

The Italian press has broken into a new periodic clamor for French territory. The "seigneur" of the "seigneur" is more than any preceding one. And the supplies want the territory transferred now. Since the Italian press says that Mussolini wants it to say, this appeal from the junior partner to the senior. That it is made openly suggests that Adolf has stopped Benito's personal plea when it was made at the recent audience he granted it Duce.

Specifically the Fascist claims include Tunisia, Nice, Savoy and Corsica. These are concessions which the Fuehrer could not grant while he has any hope of coaxing France into the war as a live enemy partner; nor even without galvanizing the smouldering hatred of Frenchmen into still more active resistance. The appeal must therefore be a raising of the ante to Hitler at the present juncture. Nor will it be overlooked that in asking for an immediate appointment of the speaker Benito politely tells Adolf he does not trust him to do the square thing later on.

Mussolini of course understands how inopportune it is to raise this question at the present time, and in a way that quite clearly reveals his distrust of the Hitler intentions. But the emperor is to show Mussolini badly needs something to give the Italian people as compensation for the colonies he has lost and the bankruptcy into which he has plunged them. And he suspects that Hitler is planning to make Laval the No. two member of the "Axis" and the "seigneur" taking rank behind Japan as a bad fourth in the combination. Earnest as they undoubtedly are, Benito's prayers are failing on deaf ears. He is not going to get the emperor's attention now or any time in the future. It is in vain that he pleads through his newspapers the "merciful" Italy has made. In the Fuehrer's "seigneur" "gratitude" taken into consideration, Italy is a squeezed lemon, economically and militarily. France would be of much more use to Hitler, than he will throw France into "frenzy in order to pay his debts to Mussolini there isn't a chance."

Likely enough that Hitler said to Mussolini at the recent conference was that he doesn't want to hear any more clamor from the Italian press for Corsica, Nice, Savoy and Tunisia, having already more than enough trouble to keep France quiescent.

The feeling at Vichy is said to be that Mussolini is so anxious for a victory somewhere he is liable to attack Corsica any day. Why not? Hitler has lost France and Japan has Indo-China, but Benito—who did the backstabbing—has got nothing from the victim.

Senator Sauve, former postmaster-general, says after the war the Dominions may be freed of any obligation to support "military imperialism." The Senator must think this is the war of 1812. The Dominions have no such obligation now, and have had none during its lifetime.

Sir Stafford Cripps, former bomb maker dropped on Malta during April that was month of the blitz. As Britain is 988 times as large, and the raiders scattered their bombs from the Channel to the Highlands, London at the worst can have seen no more than a few incendiary bombs. The island endured at times last month. It is probably also true that, area considered, the enemy has lost more planes over Malta than over Britain. The island, however, has been attacked so furiously, and nowhere have attacks been more costly or less successful.

Pierre's Predicament

In the vernacular, Pierre Laval is "on the spot" under the declaration of the French Republic. He is controlling the switch. Vichy's Quaiing can accept the situation as it now stands, plus further acquiescence in Washington's wishes on Admiral Bertr's part, or approval of the French fleet and French African bases. He must decide on the latter course, he may be involved in another Order in the United States as well as British fighting ships involved. This would be a complete French surrender with vengeance. Could the Germans afford to risk the reaction of an already ailing and restless populace to a sudden realization that France had been taken into war with the United States? No matter how much Pierre Laval might desire to do so, ever, he still remains the victim of his own duplicity.—Victoria Times.

It has made the movement respectable. Not that the championship of human rights and the promotion of human brotherhood could ever be regarded as sordid and disreputable. But the classes of the ruling principle have now possessed the faculty of lifting a quizzical eyebrow at anything that tended in this direction. And that habit has been damaging.

It has always been difficult to spread the doctrine of social justice on an authority and a universal basis. That paradox has been explained. That notion has been dispelled.

For when the leader of an established church, by its very establishment, tends to follow the general government pattern of thought, goes all out for social justice, the movement for social justice is no longer a movement for social justice.

Don't Be Forced Into Wedding, Girls

Man Threatens Suicide If Worried Woman Refuses Him: He'd Make Her Life Miserable If She Consented to Marriage

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been going with a man off and on for two and a half years. He is 31 and I am 19. He is really in love with me. He spends all his money on giving me good times. Never goes with any other girl. I enjoy being with him, but he is so jealous that he simply has a fit if I have a date with any other boy. The trouble with me is that I am sure of his love for me, but I don't know whether I love him.

He has been pleading with me and begging me to marry him for the last year, but it seems that there is something that bothers me and tells me not to do it; but when I hesitate he threatens to commit suicide. Says if I don't marry him he has nothing to live for and he might as well end all of his worries and troubles. If he should do this, people might blame me for it and I might lose all my friends.

I have a job that I would love if I married, so my boy friend suggests that we be married secretly and says that I could still work for a year. If I wanted to before we told it. But thing will get out no matter how you try to hide them, and somehow I have never favored a secret marriage. I could have plenty of dates with other boys if it wasn't for this man, but if I should break with him there is no telling what he might do to himself and I wouldn't like anything to happen to him like that. What do you think I should do?

WORDY GIRL.
ANSWER: Evidently you are not in love with the man and you should break off with him before you let him badger you into a marriage that will bring no happiness to either one of you. You should do this in justice to him as well as yourself, because no man is in a more unfortunate position than the one who has a wife who merely tolerates him and who brings to marriage none of the deep affection and tenderness that a husband has a right to expect from his wife.

LIFE MISERABLE.
And if this man is jealous now of any attention that you receive from other boys, think what he would be after you were married to him and he found out, as he would be bound to, that he really did not possess your heart, that you merely liked instead of loved him. He would make your life a hell on earth with his suspicions and reproaches, and you would not dare even so much as speak to an old school mate, or show any interest in your brother.

Don't marry any man for pity and because he makes himself romantically miserable before you. Lots of girls make that mistake and when it is too late they find out that they can't keep on being sorry for a man who weeps on their shoulders. They have a contempt for him and think that he should have had enough backbone and grit to have borne a disappointment without whining all over the place, and that especially he should not have been willing to sacrifice them to his unrequited passion.

Don't let him frighten you into marrying him with his threats of suicide. Call his bluff. He won't do it. Your refusal to marry him won't even make him miss a meal. And don't marry secretly. It amounts a marriage over, for nobody ever believes in a belated marriage certificate.

You have a good job. My earnest advice to you is to hang on to it and wait for somebody to come along whom you want to marry as much as he wants to marry you.

BECAUSE SHE'S BLONDE?
DEAR MISS DIX: I am secretary to a fine man who is married to a woman to whom he is very devoted. He is always telling me how wonderful his wife is and I am sure there is no other woman on earth so far as he is concerned, and I greatly admire him for this. Now our relations are absolutely and entirely that of employer and employee, but there have been times when I have had lunch with him when there was business to talk over and when I have had to work until late in the evening he has driven me home. Nothing could have been more innocent, but some trouble-maker has gotten the wife all stirred up about it and the poor man is being nagged to death about it.

Why can't wives have enough sense to see that to the great majority of business men their secretaries are just an office convenience, one. Nothing more. BLONDIE.
ANSWER: Maybe it is because you are a blonde and wives seem to be sold on the belief that no man can resist yellow hair.

Possibly if you could get a black wig you could get the poor lady's mind at rest and save Friend Husband from being further nagged.

Of course, there are some poor fellows there are a lot of husbands, secretaries in parlors and they are to be found even among wives' best friends. Also, there are pill-popping men who pick out their secretaries for their figures, not for their spilling. But these dangers to married life exist everywhere, and unless wives put blinders on their husbands, or relate with him to Eve's Eden as soon as they are married, they are bound to be exposed to temptation.

In reality, the jealousy of wives over their husbands' secretaries is mainly wasted emotion and groundless fears. The average business office is no love nest. It is a work shop. The average business man reserves his sentimental dalliance, like he does his drinking, for after business hours. His mind is concentrated on the pursuit of the lady on the dollar, not glamor girls, and he is too busy, too driven, too worried to spend a thought on whether Miss Potbooks is pretty or ugly, whether she is sympathetic and understanding or hard as nails.

All that he is interested in is the kind of work she turns out. The first time most business men ever takes a second glance at their secretaries or regard them as personalities is when their wives ask them why they had to get such good-looking, or they begin to drop into the office at odd times and give other manifestations of jealousy.

Now, on the other hand, does the average secretary have any designs on her employer. He may look like a Prince Charming to his wife, but to Miss Potbooks he is just a fat, stolid man, getting bald, and instead of envying his wife she is sorry for her, and thinks Heaven she doesn't have to stand his irritation and fault-finding but for her part of the day, instead, of having a lifetime of it.

She has her own boy friend and is collecting things for her hope chest. Wives would save themselves a lot of tears if they would only view their husbands' secretaries with clear eyes instead of through green glasses.

Minute Make-Ups

For a good stimulating beauty bath, scrub from head to foot with some liquid soap the kind you use for a shampoo. Rinse the body. Now put a little talc all on your brush, and scrub legs, arms, feet and torso. Rub. Apply a creamy hand lotion—and you'll feel like a new person!

McCoy Health Service

Many people are interested in the common symptoms which may accompany anemias. The following are some of those which may occur: Trembling, faintness, irregularity of the heart beat, poor appetite, abnormal appetite, marked by cravings for certain articles of food and such symptoms as headache, dizziness, ringing noises in the ears, trembling and irritability.

The patient may say he finds it difficult to keep his mind on one subject or that he is short of breath, or that the hands and feet are cold. The skin and nails may be pale.

I have given you these symptoms simply because so many of those who write to me ask about them. I do not intend that any reader should attempt to diagnose his own case, deciding he has or has not anemia, according to whatever symptoms he has developed.

When you think there is a possibility that you have anemia, the best plan is to go and have a blood test made. In the event anemia is actually present, this will be quickly found when the blood is tested. The charge for this particular service is comparatively low and it is a far better in every way that you have this laboratory test made so that you may be sure of the condition of the blood, instead of guessing about it.

The term anemia means a reduction or decrease in the red cells of the blood, commonly accompanied by a lowering of the hemoglobin which gives the red cell its characteristic color.

Some of the possible causes of secondary anemia are the use of an improperly selected diet; a small but continued loss of blood; the presence of pus pockets within the body. Contributing causes are I do not intend that any reader should attempt to diagnose his own case, deciding he has or has not anemia, according to whatever symptoms he has developed.

The term "nutritional anemia" has been coined to describe an anemia resulting when the diet has been so faulty that the blood state is below normal. The diet which seems to be the most likely to cause this kind of anemia is one poor in iron-bearing foods, and at the same time, poor in regards to proteins, such as meat, eggs, and milk. Having the patient use foods rich in iron and also those which provide protein in an easily assimilated form will usually correct it. When these measures fail, it is customary for the physician to give iron-bearing preparations.

All questions regarding Health and Diet will be answered. Large, stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address: McCoy, St. Louis, Mo., U.S.A.

Fatal Crash

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, May 28.—(UPI)—General MacArthur's headquarters announced today an air crash early yesterday in central Australia killed several Americans including one officer, and an Australian flight lieutenant and leading airman. A glider failure was believed to be the cause of the crash. All those killed were military personnel.

BEGINNING AT ONCE

TEA AND COFFEE ARE RATIONED

Ships and lives must be conserved

To bring tea from Ceylon and India, to bring coffee from South America, ships must cross oceans infested with submarines. Today those ships and their naval escorts are required for more essential services. Every ship, every foot of cargo space, is needed to carry war materials, and to bring essential goods to Canada.

So Canadians must now reduce their consumption of tea and coffee. You must reduce your normal consumption of tea by at least a half. You must reduce your normal consumption of coffee by at least one fourth. These reductions are absolutely necessary.

TEA CONSUMPTION MUST BE CUT AT LEAST IN HALF

COFFEE CONSUMPTION MUST BE CUT AT LEAST ONE FOURTH

THIS IS THE LAW

You must not buy more than 2 weeks' supply of tea or coffee for yourself and household in any one week.

You must not make further purchases of tea or coffee at any time when you have two weeks' supply on hand at the reduced ration. (Exception: those in areas remote from supply.)

Retailers have the right to limit or refuse customers' orders if they suspect the law is not being kept.

Retailers must not have on hand more than one month's supply of tea and coffee, whether packaged or bulk.

There are heavy penalties for violations of this law.

SUGAR RATION

Now 1/2 LB. PER WEEK PER PERSON

Since sugar rationing was first introduced, the shipping situation has become more serious. The danger to ships and lives has increased. Consequently it has now become necessary to reduce the sugar ration from 1/4 lb. to 1/2 lb. per week per person. Only persons in areas remote from source of supply are permitted to have more than two weeks' supply on hand at any time.

SUGAR FOR PRESERVING

Special provision is made for additional quantities of sugar for home preserving and canning.

In addition to your ration, you may purchase 1/2 lb. of sugar for every pound of fruit that you preserve or can, and 1/2 lb. of sugar for every pound of fruit made into jam or jelly.

Every person who buys sugar for canning or preserving is required to keep an accurate record of the sugar purchased for this purpose. If any sugar remains after canning and preserving, it shall form part of the regular ration of 1/2 lb. per person per week.

Loyal Canadians will be glad of this new opportunity to do their part to ensure Victory.

THE CANADIAN PRESS NEWS

First Issue Of Service Tabloid Is Hit With Troops

The Badge Of Courage Knows No Age Limit

There's no age limit to courage. Two of Britain's newest heroes are Home Guard Stewart Wood, 17, and Private Derrick Baynham, I.C.S., 19, who have received the George medal. There was no word as to why they were awarded this high honor for non-combat service, but the fact that they got it is enough. Both had previously proved themselves when they were awarded the National Life Boat Institute silver medal. Wood is from Chester, Baynham from Walton-on-Thames.

Bombtime And Bedtime In Malta

Illustrative of the undaunted spirit of Malta, most bombed spot on earth, is this child carrying his bedding to a shelter to spend night.

These graphic U.S. Army photographs depict scenes taken during the long sustained eruption of Hawaii's Mauna Loa volcano—most violent since 1861. Upper photo, taken from the air, shows a fountain of molten lava spurting 600 feet into the air as mighty Mauna Loa went on the rampage April 26. She did not "cease firing" for 22 days. Army bombers, for the second time in seven years, again bombed the huge crater in order to divert lava flows from the port of Hilo, the islands' second largest city. The terrifying sixty-foot wall of molten lava came to a stop only 14 miles from the heart of the city, due to the unrelenting bombing. Army censorship kept the volcanic activity a military secret for 22 days because the tremendous eruption nullified the blackout of the islands and served as a beacon for hundreds of miles. Lower photo shows how bombs were dropped on a fissure in the side of Mauna Loa. In this picture a bomb has just exploded near the fissure, and, shortly afterward, the single river of white-hot molten lava became four streams, three of which flowed south and away from Hilo.

Nazi Air Force Takes Beating

Hitler's long heralded spring offensive in Russia has turned into a defensive battle on at least one portion of the 1,800-mile front. At Kharkov Marshal Timoshenko's Soviet troops have bored in to surround the key city known as the "Pittsburgh of the Ukraine." Germany's air force has taken a terrific beating on this front and here is one of the many captured planes being taken to the Russian rear.

U.S. Girls Train In Eastern Canada To Ferry Spitfires

We won't be left out of this war!" Thus do the women at an eastern Canada air command base feel. They are U.S. women, pilots who found there was no place for them in the U.S. Army Air Corps and came to Canada to train as ferry pilots for fighter planes in Britain. They undergo the rigid tests of the air training auxiliary and when passed go overseas for duty. They are experienced fliers who have done stunt work and air racing. Getting instructions from Capt. H. Smith are, left to right, Edith Foltz Stearno, Portland, Ore.; Kay Van Dooser, Chicago; Una Goodwin, Oklahoma City; Opal Anderson, Chicago; Mary Zerebel, Lake Superior, and Peggy Lennox, Dallas, Texas.

Germans Learn What Fighting Russians Means

Across the broad, 1,400 mile front of Russia the Germans have learned to their bitterness, what fighting Russians means. Behind the German lines and in territory recovered by the Soviets, are hundreds of plots of earth such as this, graveyards of Nazi soldiers who died under the stubborn guns and plans of the defenders or succumbed to the biting frost of the terrible Russian winter.
